Coach Rhonda Farney

In her 25th year as Georgetown High School head basketball coach and girls' athletic coordinator—Coach Rhonda Farney led Georgetown to its 23rd state playoff appearance, winning the 4A State Championship, defeating Dallas Lincoln in the finals, 65-60.

More than 56 players whom Farney coached have gone on to play collegiate basketball, and more than 45 who played for her are either coaching or preparing to enter the coaching profession. She has lectured at numerous Texas basketball clinics as well as clinics from Alaska to Florida.

Farney graduated summa cum laude—still a teenager at the time—from Howard Payne University, then coached basketball and track and taught English at Goldthwaite High School and Ozona High School for the next 12 years. While at Goldthwaite, she was the only girls' basketball coach on staff, coaching the seventh, eighth, junior varsity, and varsity teams. At the varsity level, her teams won 10 district championships, four bi-district championships, and two area championships, while making four regional appearances. Her teams won 20 or more games each season, and nine players received collegiate scholarships.

Her coaching awards include numerous District Coach of the Year honors, Texas Girls Coaches Association (TGCA) Coach of the Year in 2001, Central Texas Coach of the Year four times, and TGCA, Texas Association of Basketball Coaches (TABC), Texas High School Coaches Association (THSCA), and WBCA Milestone Awards in 1990 for 300 wins, 1993 for 400 wins, 1996 for 500 wins, 2000 for 600 wins, 2004 for 700 wins, and 2008 for 800 career varsity wins. On January 25, 2011, the veteran coach won her 900th varsity game (against Leander). Her career record stands at 974-265.

In 1998, she was selected the six-state District VI Converse Coach of the Year and Fox Southwest's Coach Who Makes a Difference. Farney was named the NFCA Section 6 Coach of the Year in 2006 for the six-state region. She is a former President of TABC and TGCA. She also has coached the TABC and TGCA All-Star games. She served on the TABC Hall of Fame Committee from 2004-08 and was chair for two years. On May 18, 2013, Coach Farney was inducted into the Texas Basketball Hall of Fame.

On the national scene, Farney has chaired the USA Basketball Cadet and Youth Committee, helping select players and coaches for the Summer Youth Development Festival. In summer 2001, she was one of two high school coaches named by the USA Basketball Women's Collegiate Committee to serve as floor coach for the USA Basketball Women's Junior National Team Trials in Colorado Springs, Colorado. She was assistant coach for the 2005 USA Basketball Women's Youth Development Festival, where her team won the gold medal.

Farney was named head coach for the April 2003 WBCA/Nike All-American game in Hartford, Connecticut. Previously, in April 1996, she traveled to Philadelphia as assistant coach for the WBCA/Nike All-American game. Farney served four years on the WBCA and NFCA Board of Directors and completed a term on the NFCA Basketball Rules Committee.

Coaching Staff

Former Texas Tech Lady Raider basketball player Kellye Richardson arrived in Georgetown in the fall of 1988, the same year that Coach Rhonda Farney joined the Georgetown High School coaching staff. Richardson, junior varsity and varsity assistant coach, has compiled an exemplary record of 551 JV wins and 138 losses over the past two and a half decades. Her junior varsity teams have won 13 district titles, one co-championship, eight second-place, and three third-place titles. This year Coach Richardson coached the freshman white team, winning district and finishing with a 24-3 record.

"When people think of Georgetown girls' basketball, they think of stability, tradition and excellence. It is safe to say that Coach Richardson has epitomized those ideals," said Coach Farney. "She takes pride in teaching fundamentals of the game, especially shooting." In 1992, 1993, and 1995, Georgetown won the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches (TABC) award for best three-point shooting percentage in the state, and in 1998, the Lady Eagles won the TABC free-throw shooting award.

Richardson has helped coach the TABC All-Star game, and she was named TABC's Assistant Coach of the Year in 2004. She also has served as Sub-Varsity chair of the Texas Girls Coaches Association (TGCA) and a member of the TGCA Board of Directors. In 1999, she was named Assistant Coach of the Year for Texas and the nation by the National Federation High School Coaches Association (NFHSCA).

After playing basketball and running track at Pampa High School, Richardson accepted a scholarship to play basketball at Amarillo Junior College. She finished her playing career at Texas Tech under Coach Marsha Sharp from 1983-84 and was a graduate assistant in 1985 for the Lady Raiders. Richardson earned a Bachelor of Science degree in health and physical education while at Texas Tech. She was assistant coach at Canyon High School under Coach Joe Lombard from 1986 to 1988.

Georgetown named Richardson head girls' cross country coach in 1993. Since then, her teams have won 14 district championships and made 16 regional appearances as well as nine state appearances. She also teaches health and coaches track.

All the intensity, skill and passion that Coach Kristin Curtis brought to the court as an All-District Lady Eagle and collegiate All-America basketball player are poured into her coaching of the GHS freshman white team—and the varsity as assistant coach. The school and gym are familiar territory since she spent her high school years playing on the court here.

Curtis, a 1988 GHS graduate, went on to play for the Tarleton State University TexAnns from 1988-92, and as a senior led her team to the 1992 National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) Division II National Tournament championship in Monmouth, Oregon. She was inducted into the Tarleton Athletic Hall of Fame in 2002, holding records for most steals in a game, season and career. Her 149 steals in 1990-91 set an NAIA record.

"As a former Georgetown player, Coach Curtis knows first-hand the expectations of this basketball program and community," said Coach Rhonda Farney. "Georgetown expects our basketball players to be fundamentally sound and tenacious competitors on the court, excellent students in the classroom, and role models. Kristin imparts all these things to her students."

Curtis's younger sister Carly also was a Lady Eagle guard and played on the 1991 and 1992 teams that earned state tournament appearances.

After graduating from Tarleton in 1993, Curtis coached basketball and tennis at Seymour High School then returned to Tarleton as assistant women's basketball coach, head tennis coach, and PE instructor while earning a master of education degree in exercise and sports studies in 1995.

She has coached basketball and tennis, girls' and boys' track and cross country, and volleyball at Crowley, Copperas Cove, and Cedar Hill high schools, in addition to teaching Physical Education, Special Education reading, and English.

Coaching Staff

Curtis first returned to Georgetown in 2001 and coached basketball at Forbes Middle School for a year before going to the high school to coach freshman girls' basketball and assist Coach Farney with the varsity. She left in 2004 and spent two years at Cedar Hill before returning to Georgetown in 2006. She coached basketball, cross country, and track at Tippit Middle School before moving to GHS in 2010. She has led her Lady Eagle white team to back-to-back district championships, while compiling a 16-7 record last season, with six of those losses coming against A team competition. This year her junior varsity team won two tournaments and had an undefeated, 14-0 district record and a season record of 26-4.

Curtis thinks athletics probably saved her from being a poor student and making bad choices in middle and high school. "I had to keep my grades up to play, and practices, tournaments, and games kept me too busy to get in trouble."

There was never any doubt in her mind that she would play small-college basketball. After a tryout at Tarleton, the coach told Curtis she would probably be third-string point guard as a freshman. That prediction made her more determined to work hard and eventually record her name in TexAnn history as one of only four 1st Team All- America honorees. In June Coach Curtis and her 1991 team will be inducted into the Tarleton Hall of Fame.

Coach Curtis also teaches special education and is the head girls' track coach.

Coach Jordan Ramey joined the Georgetown High School staff in 2005. For four years he coached boys' teams in football, soccer, and basketball. He took the coaching reins of the freshman blue team in 2011 and became an assistant varsity coach. His first team compiled a 24-4 record, sharing district championship honors with Pflugerville. Last season his team won two tournaments as well as the undefeated district title, while compiling a 25-2 record. This year his team won two tournaments as well winning district with an undefeated record while finishing overall with a 29-2 record. Coach Farney credits Jordan with the Lady Eagles' transformation from a post-oriented team to a read-based offense.

An outstanding high school athlete, Ramey lettered in football, basketball, and track at Sulphur Springs High School. He won the Forest Gregg MVP award in high school which goes to an athlete who had success in three or more sports. A 2001 graduate of Sulphur Springs, he was named All-District as senior quarterback and All-District in basketball for three years. He also was a three-year letterman in track, participating in the long jump.

Ramey graduated from Howard Payne University in 2005 with a Bachelor of Science degree in math and education. Joining the GHS athletic staff that same year, he helped lead the football team into the 2008 playoffs. He coached soccer from 2006-2008, and boys' basketball in 2009.

In addition to coaching, Ramey teaches math and coaches track and a girls' dribblers all-star team.

The Dream Team - Armed and Ready

Georgetown High School Lady Eagles have not literally been good forever, but they have done their best to make it seem that way. They made it to the state tournament in 1978, they made it to the state tournament in 1996, and they made it three times in between. They won a state title in 1979, and they have become a perennial playoff entry. Not bad for a program that died in 1956.

As hard as it is to believe now, for 18 years from 1956 to 1974, the school that has become synonymous with girls' basketball did not have a program because it was "too expensive and physically demanding." That hiatus was sandwiched by excellence. The tradition began in the late 1940s and 1950s when Coach Esther Weir produced Lessie Lee Cole and Alice "Cookie" Barron. Barron, described as the "Babe Zaharias" of Georgetown, later went on to become an All-American for the Wayland Baptist Flying Queens and was a member of the American team that defeated the Russians in the 1957 World Games.

Soon after Barron graduated from Georgetown, the girls' basketball program was disbanded in 1956. The coach was Miss LaVern Clifton, and Paula (Wheeler) Doerfler remembers that the school board voted not to play girls basketball the summer before her freshman year. "The school board said that girls' basketball was too expensive and too strenuous," Doerfler recalled. While Georgetown refused to let girls play basketball, Barron, one of the most famous graduates of the school, went to Colorado where she became a pioneer for high school girls' athletics. Georgetown began the process of catching up in 1974. At a time when many school districts were being forced into action by Title IX Legislation, Georgetown Superintendent Jack Frost was ahead of the times.

Frost resurrected the girls' basketball program, vowing to make it a first-class program. He made Mike Brown the first high school coach and Paula Doerfler and Sue Davidson the junior high coaches. With renewed interest, a year later Georgetown hired Natalie Gunter and began the true quest to put Lady Eagle basketball back on the map.

In 1976, the Lady Eagles tangled with powerhouse Waco Midway and lost 104-19. Two years later, the resilient locals beat Midway, 41-39. As much as any game in the program's storied history, that contest sent the message that Georgetown was back from the dead.

That 1977-78 team beat Bridge City, 44-34, in the regional championship game and advanced to the state tournament, where they eventually lost to state champion Canyon, 77-52.

That set the stage for the most successful season in the history of the program. One year later, Coach Tonya Toles (Lott) took the helm and, with the help of assistant coaches Davidson and Judy Hill, led the team to a 3A state championship, defeating Dumas and Sweeny.

In 1982, Georgetown split district games with Del Valle, which featured future University of Texas superstar Bev Williams, before losing to the Williams-led Cardinals in the regional finals. Coach Toles (Lott) led the Lady Eagles to yet another state appearance in 1983, where they lost in the semifinals to Corpus Christi Calallen.

Three times in the mid-1980s, Cathy Fuller (Sefcik) coached teams that made brief playoff appearances before falling to Little Cypress-Mauriceville, Waco Richfield, and McKinney, respectively.

Meanwhile, the little country school was growing quickly. Georgetown was moved into Class 5A in 1988, leading to inevitable growing pains. The program struggled, and in 1988 Georgetown made a move to revive its sagging fortunes.

This time, the solution was hiring Rhonda Farney and assistant Kellye Richardson. Once again, the program was resurrected.

"In 1989 and 1990, we beat teams we should not have and lost to teams that we should have beaten," Coach Farney said. However, before long, the Lady Eagles were simply beating everyone.

In 1990, building on the theme "The Tradition Continues," Georgetown defeated a Round Rock team led by Nicole Collins (Louisiana Tech and Angelo State star), then, on the final night of the regular season, beat the 13-0 Waco Lady Lions and their star Benita Pollard, who later played for the University of Texas. Much as the victory against Waco Midway in 1978 sparked the program's rebirth, those two wins led to much bigger things in the years that followed.

Building on the previous season, the 1991 Lady Eagles, dubbed "The Dream Team," returned to 4A and returned to the playoffs. With three returning starters (Desiree Warren, Kristen Posey, and Catherine Parnell) and a host of district champ junior varsity players, the team found itself in District 25-4A with an old, familiar foe Waco Midway. Midway returned four starters from a state runnerup team, including all-state player and University of Texas signee Judy Holcomb. Something had to give, and it was Midway. Georgetown split with the Pantherettes in district, and then defeated them in the regional finals for a trip to the Final Four. Georgetown lost to Dallas Lincoln in the state semifinals, 45-49.

Tradition Continues - With One Lap to Go

In 1992, with three remaining starters (Carly Curtis, Posey, and Shawna Ford), the Lady Eagles won District 25-4A and breezed through the state playoffs, which set up a first-round state tournament matchup between the locals and the Kaufman Lady Lions. Georgetown, hoping to "Fulfill the Dream", played at the Erwin Center before over 14,500 fans, the largest crowd ever to watch a Texas high school girls' basketball game. After beating Kaufman, the Lady Eagles lost a heartbreaker at the buzzer to Canyon Randall, 42-43.

In 1993, Georgetown suffered through a rebuilding year, which meant they merely made the playoffs. Looking to "Take Charge" with only one returning experienced letter winner, sophomore Suzanne Koy, and a number of talented newcomers (Whitney Reiersen, Kerrie Edgar, and DeAnn Porfirio), the team turned in one of its most remarkable seasons ever when it defeated eventual state champ Austin Westlake and later Belton in a district playoff game. Representing District 25-4A, the Lady Eagles fell to LBJ in bi-district.

"Armed and Ready" in 1994, the Porfirio-led Lady Eagles won three tournaments and advanced to the regional semifinals before losing to Tulosso-Midway at the buzzer. The loss was a miserable ending to what had been a sparkling season.

After four years and four playoff berths in 4A, the Lady Eagles began "Courting Tradition" in 1995 when they returned to 5A. The team, led by three returning starters (Natalie Tucker, Koy, and Reiersen), began the season with a 19-game winning streak before falling to Canyon in the Midland Byron Johnson Christmas Classic. The team was nationally ranked as high as fifth in the USA Today poll. The team simply began a new streak that carried them into the 5A playoffs for the first time ever. Georgetown eventually fell to North Mesquite in the regional semifinals before a record crowd at Baylor's Ferrell Center. The 1995 team was led by seniors Erin Elsasser and Koy.

With three returning starters (Tucker, Reiersen, and Amy Johnson), the 1996 Lady Eagles were one of the closest knit teams in years. Basketball was "The Tie That Binds" and with Cari Lynn Stridde and Rhonda Ooten joining the three returnees, Georgetown won two tournaments, the District 14-5A title, and the Region II-5A crown. The Georgetown Lady Eagles, seasoned by 13 games against state-ranked teams, took No. 1 Alief Elsie to the wire in the state semifinals before losing, 55-59.

Mindful of all the tradition, Georgetown looked forward to "Celebrating the Past, Present, and Future" in 1997. With only three returning letter winners (Stridde, Ooten, and Claire Swinbank), the 1997 Lady Eagles were one of the least experienced but most athletic teams in the recent history of the program. Christina Edgar and Erin Hall joined the above, and they won the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament and placed third in the Arlington Classic and Lindale Hoop Heaven before winning yet another district title. Georgetown lost to A&M Consolidated, 45-50, in the area round of the playoffs.

In It to Win It - Money in the Bank

The 1998 season was more of the same for the "Leaders of the Pack." With three returning starters (Ooten, Hall, and Swinbank) and six returning letter winners, the athletically-gifted Lady Eagles went 27-7 before losing in the regional semifinals to Longview, 52-57. Before that, the team went 10-0 in District 14-5A, won the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament for the sixth consecutive year, and beat Tomball and Cy-Falls in the playoffs.

"Taking None from Nobody" in 1999, the Georgetown Lady Eagles with two returning starters (Dionne Brown and Anna Hartzell), senior Deah Breithaupt, and sophomores Jennifer Doherty and Paige Prince, played one of the toughest preseason schedules in the history of the program. After winning the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament, Georgetown traveled to Missouri for a tournament. The team won district and defeated Cy-Fair in area before falling to Klein in the regional quarterfinals. The team ended the season at 20-14.

In 2000, Georgetown was "In It to Win It," and winning they did as they amassed a 26-7 record. The team won the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament and the prestigious 32-team Las Vegas Holiday Classic. Georgetown won another district championship before falling to Spring Westfield, 50-53, in area.

With just two returning starters (Doherty and Prince), the 2001 Lady Eagles were intent on "Burying the Competition." The team was loaded with youth. Returning letter winners, sophomores Erica Kovach and Cayce Turner, added experience to the program. New varsity sophomore players Tori Alloway, Megan Gooch, Calli Ebeling, and Stephanie Sullivan, and junior Amanda Hall, brought athleticism and a winning junior varsity basketball tradition. The youthful Lady Eagles came in second in the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament, losing in overtime by two points to Corpus Christi Carroll. They played in the San Antonio Northside Invitational, losing in overtime in the championship to San Antonio Taft. The Lady Eagles went to Florida and participated in the Naples Holiday Shoot-Out. They beat the host team, Barron Collier, and lost to two-time Pennsylvania state champion and Naples Shoot-Out champion Cheltenham in overtime. The Lady Eagles went on to be District 13-5A Co-Champions. They lost to The Woodlands by one point in area play and ended the season 26-7.

Without a senior on the team, in 2002 Georgetown returned three starters (Alloway, Kovach, and Turner) and seven letterwinners (Ebeling, Rickita Fisher, Gooch, Christy Hubbard, DeAnna Knox, Hanna Pool, and Stephanie Sullivan) on a team that had "Money in the Bank." The young team went 28-5, defeating St. Michael's Academy in the finals to the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament, winning consolation at the Kroger Holiday Classic, in Pickerington, OH, and winning District 13-5A with a perfect 10-0 record. They defeated Klein Forrest, 63-60, and lost to Spring Westfield, 36-43, in the regional quarterfinals.

"The Difference in Playing and Playing Well...70-30" was the creed of the 2003 Lady Eagles. The team returned all five starters (Alloway, Ebeling, Gooch, Hubbard, and Kovach) and four letter winners (Fisher, Knox, Pool, and Turner) along with sophomores Emily Richardson, Leah Starr and freshman Jennifer Thomas. The team lost Turner to a knee injury before the season started and Gooch two games into the season. She did not return until January 3, 2003, some 20 games later. Georgetown defeated rival Austin Westlake, 51-31, before losing in overtime to USA Today #3 nationally-ranked Fort Smith Northside, AR, 64-65, in the finals of the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament. Next, they played five games in less than 44 hours in the prestigious Air Force Rotary Lone Star Invitational in San Antonio, going 2-3, losing to nationally-ranked Germantown Academy, PA, 38-48, and Riverdale Baptist, MD, 36-48, before falling at the buzzer to Houston Madison, 51-52. The Lady Eagles went 3-1 at The Nike Tournament of Champions in Phoenix, AZ, losing to nationally-ranked Oakridge, TN, 43-57, and defeating nationally-ranked Oakland Catholic, PA, 50-48, and nationally-ranked Collins Hill, GA, 58-47, and Cibola in Yuma, AZ, 55-49. Georgetown went 14-0 in District 14-5A before defeating Spring Westfield, 50-39, in Area and Cy-Fair, 44-35, in the regional quarterfinals. At the Ferrell Center in Waco (which was 70 miles from Georgetown), Georgetown defeated Plano, 63-37, in the regional tournament semifinals and Rockwall, 45-42, in the finals. Tradition Never Graduates - Take Charge the Erwin Center in Austin (which was 30 miles from Georgetown), Georgetown defeated Fort Bend Hightower, 50-34, before bowing out to Duncanville, 27-47, in the finals in front of over 10,000 fans. The Lady Eagles ended their season on the last day for any basketball team to play, March 1, with a record of 33-6.

"Tradition Never Graduates" was the motto for the 2004 Lady Eagles. The team was forced to "reload" since they returned no starters and only four letter winners (Pool, Richardson, Starr, and Thomas). The team played a demanding schedule, beginning the year with Duncanville, the team that had bested Georgetown in the state finals the previous year. Georgetown lost to Duncanville, 38-56, and then went on to defeat San Antonio Taft, 46-42, in the finals of the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament. On a roll, Georgetown won all four games at the Lady Bulldog Holiday Classic in Las Vegas, NV, defeating then #9 nationally-ranked hosts Centennial, 64-52. The Lady Eagles ended District 14-5A in a three-way tie for second with Stony Point and Westwood. They defeated Stony Point, 60-42, in the district playoff before defeating Copperas Cove, 37-34, in bi-district and falling to Cy-Fair, 68-36, in the area round of the state playoffs. Georgetown ended the season 24-10.

In 2005, Georgetown was true to their motto, "Operating with Heart." The team lined up and played the best competition in the nation, returning three starters (Kathryn Briggs, Jessica Ochoa, and Starr) and four letter winners (Briggs, Katie Dachowski, Ochoa, Starr, and Thomas). Others joining the team were Jessica Abernathy, Lauren Davis, Kristen Ibarra, Kelsey Kniffin, Shae Seagraves, and Devin Sewell. The Lady Eagles defeated Lubbock Estacado, 60-42, for third place in the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament and defeated nationally ranked Narbonne, CA, 49-36, and Plainview, 44-41, before falling to state-ranked Brock and Mansfield Summit in the San Antonio Lone Star Rotary Air Force Invitational. Next, the team traveled to New York where they defeated Manhassec, NY, and Mary Louis Academy, NY, before losing to the eventual national champions, Christ the King. On a roll, the Lady Eagles returned home to rack up a 13-1 record and the District 15-5A championship. During district play, the team won five games by three points or less. The team defeated Temple in the area game, 58-43, before being defeated by Pflugerville, 32-43, in the regional quarterfinals.

In 2006, Georgetown added to the girls' basketball legacy by "Building a BLUEprint for Success." That success consisted of playing the toughest preseason and district schedule in the history of the program. Returning three starters (Briggs, Sewell, and Thomas) and four additional letter winners (Abernathy, Davis, Kniffin, and Seagraves), Georgetown lost in overtime to Pflugerville Connally in the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament, 38-40, went 3-1 in Delaware's Diamond State Classic, losing to Columbia Central, TN, 48-57, and then defeating St. John's Vianney, NJ, 51-41, Boone, FL, 49-35, and Oxford, PA, 46-39. The team was District 15-5A tri-champions, which included two routes of Cedar Park, 52-32, and 55-39, a come-from-behind win on a last second putback by Devin Sewell to defeat Pflugerville, 50-49, and a 14-point last quarter comeback against McNeil, 53-51, behind Kathryn Briggs' 15-point fourth quarter contribution. Georgetown defeated Westlake, 43-23, in bi-district, defeated the Woodlands, 54-40, in area, defeated Austin Bowie, 46-36, in regional quarterfinals, and lost to eventual state runnerup Rockwall, 34-43, in the regional semifinals.

2007 saw the Lady Eagles "Reeling in the Competition." The team sharpened their teeth on the hardest competition in the state and nation. Returning three starters (Briggs, Nutter, and Seagraves) and four additional letterwinners (Kniffin, Erica McDaniel, Lorin Pereira, and Aubrey Sewell), the first four games of the season were a roller coaster. They lost to state-ranked Waco Midway and Marble Falls, and then to Dripping Springs before defeating then #1 state-ranked Bryan. They went 4-1, defeating San Antonio Warren in the silver-division of the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament, and 2-2 in the Deep South Classic in Atlanta, GA. The team was District 14-5 runnerup, which included two pivotal wins over Cedar Park, 49-45, and 53-49, and a come from behind win on a last second three pointer by Pereira to defeat McNeil, 44-43. Georgetown lost to Harker Heights, 43-49, in bidistrict.

In 2008, Georgetown returned three starters (Kniffin, Nutter, and Sewell) as well as three letterwinners (Crystal Atwood, McDaniel, and Pereira). Others joining the varsity were junior varsity championship members Jherica Binder, Kayla Burnett, Brittany Frasier, Katie Rudolph, and Tory Schlaht and freshmen players Brianna Bogard, Christina Kime, and Kathryn Tolbert. Each player helped to "Play Basketball the Georgetown Way—It's Showtime." The team won three out-of-four overtime games as well as winning the Sweet Sixteen Tournament in Monterey, CA, and runnerup at the Winnsboro Classic. Surprising everyone but themselves, they split with Pflugerville and defeated the rest of the district teams to win a District 14-5A co-championship. Next the Lady Eagles defeated Killeen Shoemaker, 39-33, in bidistrict, and derailed top ten Conroe, 42-41, in area. Atwood hit a three pointer to send the Spring Westfield game into overtime before losing in the quarterfinals, 52-57. Georgetown ended a marvelous season at 28-6.

In 2009, Georgetown returned one starter (Atwood) as well as four letterwinners (Bogard, Burnett, Tolbert, and Crystal Wills). Others joining the varsity were undefeated junior varsity championship members Ilesha Collins, Alexa Harpe, Kathryn Lawhon, Kijirsten Olson, Abbey Pennington, Natalie Polivka, and Jirah Rodriguez along with sophomore Amanda Bizzell from a district championship freshman team and freshmen Emily Johnson and Taylor Heine. Team members chose the 300 theme: "Give them nothing. Take from them everything...This is Georgetown," and they played with a warrior-like mentality. Georgetown won the silver bracket of the Jack Frost Tournament and third in the Winnsboro HoopFest. Next the team traveled to Owensboro, KY, where they shocked the home team Owensboro Catholic, 73-46, and finally lost in the finals to Henderson Co., KY, 49-55. After graduating nine seniors and five players who are now playing in college, Georgetown opened District 16-5A on December 9, 2008, against a veteran Cedar Park team and won, 47-42. Georgetown went on to post a 13-1 record and be District 16-5A co-champions with Cedar Park. Next the Lady Eagles defeated Cy-Woods, 51-43, in bidistrict before losing to Spring Westfield, 50-56, in area. Georgetown posted a 26-7 season mark.

In 2010, the Lady Eagles decided on the theme "With One Lap to Go" and sped off to a 31-4 season. Georgetown returned four starters (Atwood, Bogard, Pennington, and Wills) as well as five senior letterwinners (Harpe, Lawhon, Polivka, Rodriguez, and Olson) and one junior letterwinner (Bizzell), and one sophomore letterwinner (Johnson) as well as veteran senior managers and student trainer (Shelby Bouffard, Kensley Toungeate, and Ryan Roe). Georgetown won second in both the gold bracket of the Georgetown Jack Frost Tournament, losing to Houston Westbury Christian, 52-60, and in the Winnsboro HoopFest, losing to the host school, 48-58 as well as third in the Nike Tournament of Champions in Phoenix, AZ, by defeating Chandler, AZ, 57-55 on an assist from Atwood to Pennington on the buzzer. That win revved up their engines and began an acceleration that led them deep into the state playoffs. The team went 14-0 in District 16-5A play while collectively all four teams posted an unprecedented 45-0 record and district championships at every level. Next in the state playoffs, Georgetown defeated Cy-Woods at Brenham in overtime, 57-53, Lufkin at A&M Consolidated, 49-42, and Cy-Falls at Hearne, 47-43, before losing to Bryan, 45-50, in the regional tournament on the Baylor University campus.

There were high expectations for the 2011 Lady Eagles as they had "All the Right Ingredients" due to a returning senior group that included all-state Brianna Bogard along with four other seniors (Amanda Bizzell, Elizabeth Kniffen, Alex Larsen, and Cassie Vick).

Pre-season All-American Krystal Forthan joined this senior group in her first year as a varsity player. Added to it was an underclass group that included returning starter junior Emily Johnson as well as two other juniors (Meghan White and Katie Youngblood). Two sophomores (Lorrie Santoy and Kaitlin Walla) rounded out the core group of varsity players. During tournaments and post season play, junior Astrid Roman along with three sophomores (Lauren Ferrell, Bree Smith, and Misty Walden) joined the team. Varsity managers included Hanna

Abbe, Kayde Green, Bailey Lee, Hillary Mozingo, and Larrice Valadez and student trainer Alex Adams. The team compiled an overall record of 33-4 with a perfect 12-0 District 16-5A mark. Along the way, the team finished second in the Jack Frost Tournament, losing a 71-56 decision, once again to Houston Westbury Christian and finally won the Winnsboro HoopFest. The Lady Eagles finished a very respectable fourth place in the largest invitational tournament in the country the highly competitive West Coast Jamboree, losing to nationally rated teams Long Beach Poly, CA, 53-65, and Berkeley, CA, 61-67. At the end of the season, the Lady Eagles truly distinguished themselves as one of Georgetown's best teams ever by winning a regional championship and making it all the way to the state finals before losing to Irving MacArthur, 58-71. Enroute to Austin, the Lady Eagles defeated Pflugerville for the third time, 68-56, in the regional finals, then defeated Houston Alief-Elsik, 56-51, in the state semifinals.

The 2012 Lady Eagles believed that "Lightning Can Strike Twice" as they reeled off 17 straight victories and made everyone in Georgetown as well as the state believe, too. Two returning starters (Emily Johnson and Kaitlin Walla) from the 2011 5A defending state finalist team, were joined by five returning letterwinners (Lorrie Santoy, Bree Smith, Misty Walden, Meghan White, and Katie Youngblood) as well as six newcomers (Caitlyn Buttram, Khadijah Conway, Nicole Elliott, Haley Frias, Hayley Hunter, and Astrid Roman). The returning managers (Hanna Abbe and Bailey Lee) were joined by four varsity rookies (Hope Delatorre, Andrea Kautzsch, Mary Lucas, and Kamille Lyons) and student trainer Macey Watson. Georgetown won the Jack Frost Tournament by defeating state-ranked Liberty Hill, 61-41, and UConn signee Moriah Jefferson and the THESA Riders, 72-62. Also, exacting some revenge, the Lady Eagles treated the locals to a blowout win over Houston Westbury Christian, 71-33. They were defeated by two nationally-ranked teams in the Boo Williams Holiday Classic before besting Forest Park, VA, 64-53.

Playing before two standing-room only crowds and on KBVO local television, they finished behind Pflugerville in District 16-5A before they defeated Austin Westlake in bidistrict, 59-45, and were defeated by the eventual state finalist Spring DeKaney, 28-51, in the area-round of the state playoffs. Georgetown's final record was 27-5.

Paying tribute to the Olympic theme, the 2013 Lady Eagles discussed "Going for the Gold," which meant to the team that they could win a gold medal if they worked hard, were mentally tough, knew and embraced their roles, were effective communicators, and were fundamentally sound. As the season unwound, they held each other accountable and embodied these characteristics every day in practice. Georgetown returned two starters (Santoy and Walla) as well as twos senior letterwinners (Hunter and Smith) and two junior letterwinners (Buttram and Frias) as well as two veteran senior managers (Lyons and Lucas), two junior managers (Delatorre and Amanda Goode), one sophomore manager (Kauitzsch). New to the varsity were one senior (Khadijah Conway), two juniors (Rikki

Blue and Nicole Elliott), and four sophomores (Maddie Anderson, Amanda Johnson, Taylor LaCour, and Christine Mersiosky) as well as one senior manager (Grant Anderson and one freshman manager (Seth Sossner). The team was joined by one junior student trainer (Emily Baldwin-Pena). The Lady Eagles were 34-4 on the season. They learned from each loss and became a formidable team. The team was second in the Jack Frost Tournament, losing in the finals to Lubbock Coronado, 55-57 and winning the Winnsboro HoopFest by defeating the Class A state champions Martin's Mill, 48-40. In the Bertha Teague Mid-American Classic in Ada, OK, Georgetown played before a packed arena of 3,500 every night as they beat state-ranked and local favorite, Byng, OK, 65-29, and then Lomega, OK, 54-28, before eventually losing to the 5A Oklahoma state champions from Sulphur, OK, 35-40. That would be the last loss of the season for the eventual 4A Texas state champions from Georgetown High School. Hayley Hunter capped a furious comeback against Barbers Hill, 44-42, with a putback on the buzzer to advance to the regional tournament in Aldine. In the state tournament Georgetown held San Antonio Brennan scoreless in the third quarter after the score was knotted at 13 all at halftime to advance, 43-30. Georgetown came from behind late in the championship game to best Dallas Lincoln, 65-60. This was the first state championship for the Georgetown Lady Eagles since 1979.

Lady Eagles Enjoy

Selecting the “correct” — if not a completely realistic—motto seemingly is as important to the mental and motivational aspects of a high school athletic team as fundamentals, conditioning, native athleticism and effective game preparation are to the physical side of the game.

Mottos come in all shapes and sizes—stylistic, pretentious, hip in the contemporary context or in the case of the Class 4A state champion Georgetown Lady Eagles as well-fitting and comfortable as an old pair of jeans.

The Lady Eagles were “Going for the Gold” and they accomplished that task, finishing the season with a perfect 14-0 cruise in District 17-4A and a 7-0 march through the state playoffs to a 34-4 season and gold medals hanging around their necks on that late March 2 afternoon in the Erwin Center in Austin.

That trek, which started with three losses to state-ranked 5A teams in their first seven games, was completed with a 17 game-winning streak that was climaxed by a 44-30 win over San Antonio Brennan in the state semifinals and a come-from-behind 65-60 win over Dallas Lincoln in the championship game. After a two-point loss to Lubbock Coronado in the finals of the Jack Frost Tournament, GHS would win 30 of its final 31 games.

But “Going for the Gold” didn’t get off to a smooth start—especially in the mind of veteran coach Rhonda Farney.

“We were coming out of the Olympics and Lorrie (senior team captain Santoy) said the team wanted an Olympic theme for the motto,” Farney said. “She told me they ‘wanted to win gold.’ Honestly, I didn’t like it. It was like putting the cart before the horse.

“We got together and asked them what that really meant to them and what was needed to accomplish that goal,” she continued, pulling a clipboard out from under her desk that was covered with writing—a series of short phrases.

Among the answers were being mentally tough, being able to communicate successfully within the group, plenty of hard work, the ability to hold players accountable and for each player to understand and execute their role. By the end of the campaign there was a big check in the successful column in front of these characteristics and several others, including unyielding character and drive when the Lady Eagles came from behind in the regional quarterfinals to beat Mount Belvieu Barbers Hill, 44-42, to keep that dream alive. It was a tough Hill to climb --Barbers Hill may have been the most complete basketball team the Lady Eagles faced en route to the ultimate goal.

Lady Eagles captain Kaitlin Walla, who will continue her career this coming season at Texas State, explained what happened in what probably were the most crucial moments of the season.

“When we were down nine points with three minutes left to go in the Barbers Hill game, there was this moment when the girls on the court huddled together,” said the consensus all-state selection and state tournament MVP. “I distinctly remember the look in everyone’s eyes. It told me everything I needed to know about this team. We simply didn’t want to cut short out time together. I’ve never felt closer to any team than I did at that moment.”

A Golden Season

The Lady Eagles responded in the positive. Hayley Hunter, a 6-foot-1 senior post, put in a rebound at the buzzer to complete an escape Harry Houdini might have envied.

"I thought the buzzer was going to go off while the ball was still in my hands," Hunter said after rebounding Walla's missed shot. "All I knew was that I had to get the ball out of my hand as quickly as possible."

That victory at Brenham, opened the door to the Region III-4A Tournament at Aldine where Georgetown bested Lamar Consolidated, 47-29, and Tomball, 41-30, to earn the school's third ticket to the big dance for the third time since 2003 and the sixth time in Farney's years at the Lady Eagle's helm.

"It was a completely different experience for me," Farney said after the victory over Lincoln. "Usually, you're closing up shop after a loss, but that wasn't the case this time."

During the season approximately half the 4A teams in the state are eliminated, leaving 128 teams to pursue the state title in the UIL playoffs. Only one of those teams ends its season with a victory. Yes, Mr. Charles Darwin, it is a prime example of the survival of the fittest—physically, mentally and the combination of those things on the appointed day.

Against Lincoln in the final, it was another appointed day on the same plane as the Barbers Hill victory. This time, GHS was down by seven points with 7:19 to play at 55-48.

"That's when our team got it together," said junior point guard Caitlyn Buttram, who survived and at times thrived against Lincoln's intense pressure. "In the first half, we were on different pages. In the fourth quarter we said, 'Let's get it together. We are one, and we did it.'"

Walla, who scored 26 points against the Lady Tigers, put Georgetown ahead to stay at 59-58. From that point, eight free throws were made—six by the Lady Eagles and two by Lincoln. The hardware and the gold were headed 28 miles north to G-town.

There were other motivations. Santoy pointed to the football Eagles' 15-1 run to the 4A state title game and a championship date at Cowboys Stadium in Arlington. Walla said the Eagles wanted to give Farney, the 17-4A coach of the year, "the only thing missing on her resume." Farney also moved closer to the 1,000 career victory plateau as she finished the season with 974 wins.

The old saying is "to the victor go the spoils" and that was true for the Lady Eagles.

Walla, who also started on the Lady Eagles' 2011 5A state finalist team, was selected the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches 4A Player of the Year, all-state by both the TABC and the Texas Girls Coaches Association and the MVP in District 17-4A along with being the title game MVP at state and being on the all-state tournament team.

Hunter was a TGCA all-state choice and a TABC all-region selection. Junior Haley Frias also was a TABC all-region pick. Santoy, who excelled in two overlapping sports, was an all-state tournament selection, playing dominate basketball down the stretch.

Hunter, Santoy and Frias were named to the all-district first team, while Buttram was on the second team and junior guard Nicole Elliott was an honorable mention choice.

Among other things, the Lady Eagles were recognized by the Texas State Legislature, the Georgetown City Council and the Williamson County Commissioners Court.

Others members of the Lady Eagles included seniors Bree Smith and Khadejah Conway, junior Rikki Blue and sophomore Maddie Anderson, Taylor LaCour, Christine Mersiosky and Amanda Johnson. Freshmen Kendrick Clark and Avery Kelly were brought up to the varsity for the state-title run along with sophomore Hayley White. Sophomore Abby Saenz was on the varsity roster until stopped by a knee injury. Other players on the bench at regional and state were MacKayla Embry, Sandi Harris, Samantha Lee, Aubrey Simon, Stephanie Sovereen, and Remy Wassom.

Farney was supported by assistant coaches Kellye Richardson, Jordan Ramey and Kristin Curtis and athletic trainers Vanessa Morales and Chad Hennessey. The student support team included Grant Anderson, Emily Baldwin-Pena, Hope Delatorre, Amanda Goode, Andrea Kautzsch, Mary Lucas, Kamille Lyons and Seth Sossner.

In a nutshell, the Lady Eagles went for the gold and accomplished the goal and in May were wearing the coveted rings of a state champion, beginning to savor the memories that will last a lifetime for both them and their devoted followers. Eagle fight did not die; it prospered in the talents of these young ladies. The tradition and its legacy continue to grow in a very fertile field.

Travel History

On December 26, 2003, Georgetown flew to Las Vegas, Nevada, where they went 4-0, defeating Centennial, the #9 team in the nation. Georgetown is 9-0 in Vegas in two trips

During Christmas 2006, Georgetown traveled by charter bus to Atlanta, Georgia, where they competed in the Deep South Classic. The team went 2-2 against some of the toughest competition in the nation while taking time to eat at the famous Varsity, visit Stone Mountain, and enjoy the Georgia Aquarium.

On December 28, 2004, Georgetown was defeated by Christ the King in Queens, New York, the #1 team in the nation, as the Lady Eagles had the opportunity to play with the 30-second clock. They rode the subway, visited Ground Zero, toured Statton Island, and viewed the Statue of Liberty, marveled at the Rockettes at Radio City Music Hall, ate at Carnegie Deli, and were awed by the sight of the New York skyline and the Empire State Building.

Christmas 2007 was spent in Seaside, California, at the Sweet Sixteen Tournament, where Georgetown went 4-0. They defeated the hometown Seaside Lady Spartans, 64-27, in the finals. In San Francisco, the team toured Alcatraz, the Golden Gate Bridge, Chinatown, Lombardi Street, and Fisherman's Wharf.

Diamond State Classic in Delaware was the Christmas 2005 destination where Georgetown went 3-1. In Philly, they went to the Rocky steps, Geno's for cheese steaks, and Independence Hall. In DC, they saw all the monuments, the Holocaust Museum, the White House, the Capitol, Arlington National Cemetery, and Georgetown University.

The Christmas tournament of choice was held in Owensboro, Kentucky, where Georgetown went 3-1, losing in the finals to Henderson County, Kentucky. In Nashville, Tennessee, the team visited the Country Music Hall of Fame, President Andrew Jackson's home, The Hermitage, and ICE at the Grand Ol' Opry Resort.

Travel History

Christmas in 2009 was spent in Phoenix, Arizona, at the Nike Tournament of Champs, where Georgetown defeated Chandler, Arizona, on the buzzer. The team traveled the Apache Trail, experiencing Camelback Mountain and an old ghost town in addition to attending an Arizona State women's basketball game.

Georgetown flew to Oakland, California, after Christmas in 2010, where the team placed fourth out of 96 teams in the West Coast Jamboree, losing to nationally ranked Berkeley and Long Beach Poly. While in San Francisco, the team visited Muir Woods, Golden Gate Bridge, Chinatown, and Fisherman's Wharf.

Georgetown headed east to Virginia Beach, Virginia, and the Boo Williams Holiday Classic in December 2011, where the team went 2-1, snapping a 17-game winning streak. The team explored a lighthouse, rode the oldest wooden carousel in the country, visited Jamestown, ate rare prime rib at Colonial Williamsburg, toured ChristmasTown at Busch Gardens, and experienced GeoCashing, where they found the oldest church in America as well as other historic treasures.

Oklahoma Shows Hospitality in the

The Georgetown Lady Eagles traversed snow and ice to drive to Ada, Oklahoma, for the Bertha Teague Mid-American Classic in December 2012, producing a record of 2-1 before losing to Sulphur, Oklahoma, in the finals. Both Georgetown and Sulphur would go on to win their respective state titles. The team was shown great hospitality and played before 3,500 rabid basketball fans every night. In addition, Georgetown had time to Geo-Cash and visit Byng, the home of Mrs. Teague. In Oklahoma City, they went to the Western Heritage Cowboy Museum and the Murray Federal Museum and Memorial as well as staying in Bricktown.

Because this team and season will be extremely memorable, it was hard to pick out my favorite memory. But one thing I will keep with me forever will be having bible study with Aunt Lisa. Bible study wasn't always about coming closer to GOD but it was a time to talk about what was going on in our lives. Aunt Lisa has inspired me to be a better person and taught me life lessons such as, "I can, We can, through Christ who strengthens us."

This basketball season was life changing, not only because we won the 4A State Championship but because of all the memories that were made along the way. My favorite memory was winning state and the great sense of accomplishment, knowing everyone pulled together as a team and dug down deep. The feeling was amazing and still seems like a dream to this day.

One of the most impactful things that happened this year was our football team making it to the state finals. I will never forget how we all huddled together in Coach Farney's office to listen to the game on her computer. We were cramped and uncomfortable, but we supported our team no matter what. The football team's success propelled us into our season and motivated us to bring home a State Championship for Georgetown High School.

My favorite memory was all the rituals we did before games. The chanting, dancing, praying, and rapping was so much fun. We would get quiet and focus and then go crazy! Every game I would write a rap about our opponent and how we should go about "killing" them. It would always get us super pumped and would be the last thing we did before we prayed with Coach Farney. These moments before games and our team unity will be with me for the rest of my life.

While I wouldn't change a single thing about this season and will always treasure this entire experience, there is one memory that definitely stands out. When we were down 9 points with only 3 minutes left in the Barbers Hill game, there was this moment when the girls on the court huddled together. I distinctly remember the look in everyone's eyes. It told me everything I needed to know about this team. We simply refused to lose because we didn't want to cut short out time together. I've never felt closer to any team as I did in that moment.

My favorite memory of the season was during the state game when we were down and Maddie had just taken a charge. Everyone on the side just grabbed hands and prayed over her, and that moment in the game, to me, was the turning point. It just showed me how much we all cared for each other. I made some amazing friends that I know I'll have for friends always.

There's no doubt that this season was something special that I will never forget. I think my favorite thing about this past year was the saying "I can, We can, through Christ who strengthens us," which reminded us that when we got down we had God giving us strength. During the halftime of the state game, we were down. We came together and chanted this verse. It echoed throughout the locker room and gave us Lady Eagles hope and fuel to soar with a victory at the end of the game.

My favorite memory was when the buzzer went off in the Barbers Hill game. The whole game the score was pretty close up until fourth quarter when they pulled away for a bigger lead. In the last four minutes we started to catch back up and got ahead. They fought back and tied the game. Then Hayley made the putback with one second left and everyone went crazy. The moment the buzzer sounded our whole bench ran onto the court and bombarded Hayley. That was my most memorable and emotional experience of the entire season.

The best part of this year has to be playing to ultimately "glorify Jesus Christ." In all we did as a team our ultimate goal was to play for Him. We all knew He was our strength when we needed it the most. During the playoffs we realized this wasn't about winning basketball games; it was about something much bigger! As a Christian it was a blessing to see my teammates grow closer to Christ. We all accomplished a dream, winning a state championship, and God was with us every step of the way. "I can, WE can, through Christ who strengthens us."

This year has been an amazing journey. I haven't just gained friends, I've gained sisters. All the memories, adventures, and practices I've had with them will never be forgotten. I can't believe the season is over, but I definitely can't wait until next year. What we accomplished this year has finally started to sink in, and it's the best feeling ever. Next year will be exciting and full of so many more memories and great times!

This year has undoubtedly been my most memorable season as a Lady Eagle. I've experienced many things and created many bonds while on this team, especially in Winnsboro. We went on a nature walk, paddle-boated, and had a Sunday service in the meadow. All the while we grew closer and became a family, and I couldn't be happier to be a part of it.

It was great to win the state championship but being part of this team this year is a memory I will never forget. Being a part of the State Championship at the Erwin Center in Austin was my favorite memory. Just being there when the last buzzer sounded was a life-changing moment. I truly recognized how much hard work and dedication pays off.

Teamwork is how you win championships and I had never been more proud to be a part of such an incredible team.
