Dear Parents, Players, and Supporters,

This was another great season for Georgetown Lady Eagle Basketball!

“Program” is the first word that comes to mind when describing this team. Each player has a role and holds themselves and each other accountable. The best athletes do not always make the best team, but the best team generally wins. It was truly a pleasure watching these young ladies grow and develop throughout the season. Each coach wants their team to play its best “ball” at the end of the season, and the Lady Eagles certainly did that. Another birth in the Regional Final is a tribute to all the hard work shared by players, coaches, and parents.

As these seniors leave to begin the next chapter of their lives, I say, “You protected the tradition and left the program in great shape for years to come. You were great role models for the younger players, and you can be proud of your career for the rest of your lives.”

Thank you and Once an Eagle, Always an Eagle!

Eagle Fight Never Dies,
Coach York

COACH RHONDA FARNEY

In her 28th year as Georgetown High School head basketball coach and girls' athletic coordinator—Coach Rhonda Farney led Georgetown to its 26th state playoff appearance, making back-to-back 4A State Tournament appearances in 2013 and 2014 and the Elite Eight the past two year. In the past six years, the Lady Eagles have brought home silver, gold, and bronze medals, respectively.

More than 66 players whom Farney coached have gone on to play collegiate basketball, and more than 48 who played for her are either coaching or preparing to enter the coaching profession. She has lectured at numerous Texas basketball clinics as well as basketball clinics from Alaska to Florida.

Farney graduated summa cum laude—still a teenager at the time—from Howard Payne University, then coached basketball and track and taught English at Goldthwaite High School and Ozona High School for the next 12 years. While at Goldthwaite, she was the only girls' basketball coach on staff, coaching the seventh, eighth, junior varsity, and varsity teams. At the varsity level, her teams won 10 district championships, four bi-district championships, and two area championships, while making four regional appearances. Her teams won 20 or more games each season, and nine players received collegiate scholarships.

Her coaching awards include numerous District Coach of the Year honors, Texas Girls Coaches Association (TGCA) Coach of the Year in 2001, Central Texas Coach of the Year four times, and TGCA, Texas Association of Basketball Coaches (TABC), Texas High School Coaches Association (THSCA), and WBCA Milestone Awards in 1990 for 300 wins, 1993 for 400 wins, 1996 for 500 wins, 2000 for 600 wins, 2004 for 700 wins, 2008 for 800 wins, and 2011 for 900 career varsity wins. On February 13, 2014, the veteran coach won her 1,000th varsity game against Lumberton in the area round of the state playoffs. Coach Farney is one of only eight girls' basketball coaches to reach this milestone. Her career record stands at 1,058-289 for a winning percentage of .785.

In 1998, she was selected the six-state District VI Converse Coach of the Year and Fox Southwest's Coach Who Makes a Difference. Farney was named the NFCA Section 6 Coach of the Year in 2006 for the six-state region. She is a former President of TABC and TGCA. She also has coached the TABC and TGCA All-Star games. She served on the TABC Hall of Fame Committee from 2004-08 and was chair for two years. On May 18, 2013, Coach Farney was inducted into the Texas Basketball Hall of Fame. She was named the National Federation of High School Coaches 2013 National Coach of the Year as well as being one of 17 UIL sponsors and coaches to receive the prestigious UIL Sponsor Excellence Award in 2014. In June 2014, Coach Farney will be inducted into the Texas High School Coaches Association Hall of Fame in Arlington, Texas.

On the national scene, Farney has chaired the USA Basketball Cadet and Youth Committee, helping select players and coaches for the Summer Youth Development Festival. In summer 2001, she was one of two high school coaches named by the USA Basketball Women's Collegiate Committee to serve as floor coach for the USA Basketball Women's Junior National Team Trials in Colorado Springs, Colorado. She was assistant coach for the 2005 USA Basketball Women's Youth Development Festival, where her team won the gold medal.

Farney was named head coach for the April 2003 WBCA/Nike All-American game in Hartford, Connecticut. Previously, in April 1996, she traveled to Philadelphia as assistant coach for the WBCA/Nike All-American game. Farney served four years on the WBCA and NFCA Board of Directors and completed a term on the NFCA Basketball Rules Committee.

COACHING STAFF

Former Texas Tech Lady Raider basketball player Kellye Richardson arrived in Georgetown in the fall of 1988, the same year that Coach Rhonda Farney joined the Georgetown High School coaching staff. Richardson coached at the junior varsity level from 1988 until 2013. Richardson compiled an exemplary record of 585 wins and 144 losses over the past two-plus decades. Her junior varsity teams won 16 district titles, 1 co-championship, 6 second-place and 3 third-place titles. Richardson has coached the freshman white team the past several years.

“When people think of Georgetown girls’ basketball, they think of stability, tradition and excellence. It’s safe to say that Coach Richardson has epitomized those ideals,” said Coach Farney. “She takes pride in teaching fundamentals of the game, especially shooting. In 1992, 1993 and 1995, Georgetown won the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches (TABC) award for best three-point shooting percentage in the state, and in 1998, the Lady Eagles won the TABC free-throw shooting award.”

Richardson has helped coach a TABC All-Star game, and she was named TABC’s Assistant Coach of the Year in 2004. She also has served as Sub-Varsity chair of the Texas Girl Coaches Association (TGCA) and a member the TGCA Board of Directors. In 1999, she was named Assistant Coach of the Year for Texas and the nation by the National Federation Interscholastic Coaches Association.

Richardson graduated from Pampa High School in 1980 where she competed in basketball and track for 4 years. Upon graduation she accepted a scholarship to play basketball at Amarillo Junior College for Kelly Chadwick. She finished her playing career at Texas Tech under Coach Marsha Sharp from 1983-84 and was a graduate assistant in 1985 for the Lady Raiders. Coach Richardson earned a Bachelor of Science Degree in Health and Physical Education while at Texas Tech. Coach Richardson served as an assistant coach at Canyon High School under Coach Joe Lombard from 1986 to 1988 before joining Rhonda Farney and staff at Georgetown High School.

Richardson has been the head girls cross country coach since 1993. Since then, her teams have won 13 district championships, 7 runner-up titles and made 21 regional appearances as well as nine state appearances, finishing 2nd in 1993 and 3rd in 1996. Richardson also coaches track in the spring and teaches health education.

All the intensity, skill and passion that Kristin Curtis brought to the court as an All-District Lady Eagle and collegiate All-America basketball player are poured into her coaching of the GHS freshman white team—and the varsity as assistant coach. The school and gym are familiar territory since she spent her high school years playing on the court here.

COACHING STAFF

Curtis, a 1988 GHS graduate, went on to play for the Tarleton State University from 1988-92. She was inducted into the Tarleton Athletic Hall of Fame in 2002, holding records for most steals in a game, season and career. Her 149 steals in 1990-91 set an NAIA record. In July 2013, her team was also inducted into the Tarleton Athletic Hall of Fame.

“As a former Georgetown player, Coach Curtis knows first-hand the expectations of this basketball program and community,” said Coach Rhonda Farney. “Georgetown expects our basketball players to be fundamentally sound and tenacious competitors on the court, excellent students in the classroom, and role models. Kristin imparts all these things to her students.”

Curtis’s younger sister Carly also was a Lady Eagle guard and played on the 1991 and 1992 teams that earned state tournament appearances. Curtis first returned to Georgetown in 2001 and coached basketball at Forbes Middle School for a year before going to the high school to coach freshman girls’ basketball and assist Coach Farney with the varsity. She left in 2004 and spent two years at Cedar Hill before returning to Georgetown in 2006. She coached basketball, cross country, and track at Tippit Middle School before moving to GHS in 2010. This year Coach Curtis’s JV team was District 25-5A Runners-Up going 12-2 and 23-4 overall.

She also teaches special education and is an assistant Track coach.

Jordan Ramey joined the Georgetown High School staff in 2005.

For four years he coached boys’ teams in football, soccer, and basketball. He took the coaching reins of the freshman blue team in 2011 and became an assistant varsity coach. His first team compiled a 24-4 record, sharing district championship honors with Pflugerville. His second team won two tournaments as well as the undefeated district title, while compiling a 25-2 record. In 2013 his team won two tournaments as well winning district with an undefeated record while finishing overall with a 29-2 record. In 2014 his team won the Cedar Park and Georgetown Tournaments while placing third in the junior varsity division of the Waco Midway Tournament. The team went 14-0 and won the district championship while finishing the year 26-1. This year his team went 20-7 and placed third in District 25-5A.

Coach Farney credits Jordan with the Lady Eagles’ transformation from a post-oriented team to a read-based offense. Since becoming part of the Lady Eagle staff, the varsity has turned in a record of 125-20, playing in the state tournament bringing home silver, gold, and bronze, respectively.

An outstanding high school athlete, Ramey lettered in football, basketball, and track at Sulphur Springs High School. He won the Forest Gregg MVP award in high school which goes to an athlete who had success in three or more sports. A 2001 graduate of Sulphur Springs, he was named All-District as senior quarterback and All-District in basketball for three years. He also was a three-year letterman in track, participating in the long jump.

Ramey graduated from Howard Payne University in 2005 with a Bachelor of Science degree in math and education. Joining the GHS athletic staff that same year, he helped lead the football team into the 2008 playoffs. He coached soccer from 2006-2008, and boys’ basketball in 2009.

In addition to coaching, Ramey teaches math and coaches track.

LADY EAGLES ENJOY RICH HISTORY

Georgetown High School Lady Eagles have not literally been good forever, but they have done their best to make it seem that way. They made it to the state tournament in 1978, they made it to the state tournament in 1996, and they made it three times in between. They won a state title in 1979, and they have become a perennial playoff entry. Not bad for a program that died in 1956.

As hard as it is to believe now, for 18 years from 1956 to 1974, the school that has become synonymous with girls' basketball did not have a program because it was "too expensive and physically demanding." That hiatus was sandwiched by excellence. The tradition began in the late 1940s and 1950s when Coach Esther Weir produced Lessie Lee Cole and Alice "Cookie" Barron. Barron, described as the "Babe Zaharias" of Georgetown, later went on to become an All-American for the Wayland Baptist Flying Queens and was a member of the American team that defeated the Russians in the 1957 World Games.

Soon after Barron graduated from Georgetown, the girls' basketball program was disbanded in 1956. The coach was Miss LaVern Clifton, and Paula (Wheeler) Doerfler remembers that the school board voted not to play girls basketball the summer before her freshman year. "The school board said that girls' basketball was too expensive and too strenuous," Doerfler recalled. While Georgetown refused to let girls play basketball, Barron, one of the most famous graduates of the school, went to Colorado where she became a pioneer for high school girls' athletics. Georgetown began the process of catching up in 1974. At a time when many school districts were being forced into action by Title IX Legislation, Georgetown Superintendent Jack Frost was ahead of the times.

Frost resurrected the girls' basketball program, vowing to make it a first-class program. He made Mike Brown the first high school coach and Paula Doerfler and Sue Davidson the junior high coaches. With renewed interest, a year later Georgetown hired Natalie Gunter and began the true quest to put Lady Eagle basketball back on the map.

In 1976, the Lady Eagles tangled with powerhouse Waco Midway and lost 104-19. Two years later, the resilient locals beat Midway, 41-39. As much as any game in the program's storied history, that contest sent the message that Georgetown was back from the dead.

That 1977-78 team beat Bridge City, 44-34, in the regional championship game and advanced to the state tournament, where they eventually lost to state champion Canyon, 77-52.

That set the stage for the most successful season in the history of the program. One year later, Coach Tonya Toles (Lott) took the helm and, with the help of assistant coaches Davidson and Judy Hill, led the team to a 3A state championship, defeating Dumas and Sweeny.

In 1982, Georgetown split district games with Del Valle, which featured future University of Texas superstar Bev Williams, before losing to the Williams-led Cardinals in the regional finals. Coach Toles (Lott) led the Lady Eagles to yet another state appearance in 1983, where they lost in the semifinals to Corpus Christi Calallen.

Three times in the mid-1980s, Cathy Fuller (Sefcik) coached teams that made brief playoff appearances before falling to Little Cypress-Mauriceville, Waco Richfield, and McKinney, respectively.

#4 Cookie Barron, 1950-1953

THE TRADITION CONTINUES / THE DREAM TEAM

TAKE CHARGE / ARMED AND READY

Meanwhile, the little country school was growing quickly. Georgetown was moved into Class 5A in 1988, leading to inevitable growing pains. The program struggled, and in 1988 Georgetown made a move to revive its sagging fortunes.

This time, the solution was hiring Rhonda Farney and assistant Kellye Richardson. Once again, the program was resurrected.

“In 1989 and 1990, we beat teams we should not have and lost to teams that we should have beaten,” Coach Farney said. However, before long, the Lady Eagles were simply beating everyone.

In 1990, building on the theme “The Tradition Continues,” Georgetown defeated a Round Rock team led by Nicole Collins (Louisiana Tech and Angelo State star), then, on the final night of the regular season, beat the 13-0 Waco Lady Lions and their star Benita Pollard, who later played for the University of Texas. Much as the victory against Waco Midway in 1978 sparked the program’s rebirth, those two wins led to much bigger things in the years that followed.

Building on the previous season, the 1991 Lady Eagles, dubbed “The Dream Team,” returned to 4A and returned to the playoffs. With three returning starters (Desiree Warren, Kristen Posey, and Catherine Parnell) and a host of district champ junior varsity players, the team found itself in District 25-4A with an old, familiar foe Waco Midway. Midway returned four starters from a state runnerup team, including all-state player and University of Texas signee Judy Holcomb. Something had to give, and it was Midway. Georgetown split with the Pantherettes in district, and then defeated them in the regional finals for a trip to the Final Four. Georgetown lost to Dallas Lincoln in the state semifinals, 45-49.

In 1992, with three remaining starters (Carly Curtis, Posey, and Shawna Ford), the Lady Eagles won District 25-4A and breezed through the state playoffs, which set up a first-round state tournament match-up between the locals and the Kaufman Lady Lions. Georgetown, hoping to “Fulfill the Dream,” played at the Erwin Center before over 14,500 fans, the largest crowd ever to watch a Texas high school girls’ basketball game. After beating Kaufman, the Lady Eagles lost a heartbreaker at the buzzer to Canyon Randall, 42-43.

In 1993, Georgetown suffered through a rebuilding year, which meant they merely made the playoffs. Looking to “Take Charge” with only one returning experienced letter winner, sophomore Suzanne Koy, and a number of talented newcomers (Whitney Reiersen, Kerrie Edgar, and DeAnn Porfirio), the team turned in one of its most remarkable seasons ever when it defeated eventual state champ Austin Westlake and later Belton in a district playoff game. Representing District 25-4A, the Lady Eagles fell to LBJ in bi-district.

“Armed and Ready” in 1994, the Porfirio-led Lady Eagles won three tournaments and advanced to the regional semifinals before losing to Tulosso-Midway at the buzzer. The loss was a miserable ending to what had been a sparkling season.

After four years and four playoff berths in 4A, the Lady Eagles began “Courting Tradition” in 1995 when they returned to 5A. The team, led by three returning starters (Natalie Tucker, Koy, and Reiersen), began the season with a 19-game winning streak before falling to Canyon in the Midland Byron Johnson Christmas Classic. The team was nationally ranked as high as fifth in the USA Today poll. The team simply began a new streak that carried them into the 5A playoffs for the first time ever. Georgetown eventually fell to North Mesquite in the regional semifinals before a record crowd at Baylor's Ferrell Center. The 1995 team was led by seniors Erin Elsasser and Koy.

COURTING TRADITION / THE TIE THAT BINDS

CELEBRATING THE PAST, PRESENT, AND FUTURE

With three returning starters (Tucker, Reiersen, and Amy Johnson), the 1996 Lady Eagles were one of the closest knit teams in years. Basketball was "The Tie That Binds" and with Cari Lynn Stridde and Rhonda Ooten joining the three returnees, Georgetown won two tournaments, the District 14-5A title, and the Region II-5A crown. The Georgetown Lady Eagles, seasoned by 13 games against state-ranked teams, took No. 1 Alief Elsik to the wire in the state semifinals before losing, 55-59.

Mindful of all the tradition, Georgetown looked forward to "Celebrating the Past, Present, and Future" in 1997. With only three returning letter winners (Stridde, Ooten, and Claire Swinbank), the 1997 Lady Eagles were one of the least experienced but most athletic teams in the recent history of the program. Christina Edgar and Erin Hall joined the above, and they won the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament and placed third in the Arlington Classic and Lindale Hoop Heaven before winning yet another district title. Georgetown lost to A&M Consolidated, 45-50, in the area round of the playoffs.

The 1998 season was more of the same for the "Leaders of the Pack." With three returning starters (Ooten, Hall, and Swinbank) and six returning letter winners, the athletically-gifted Lady Eagles went 27-7 before losing in the regional semifinals to Longview, 52-57. Before that, the team went 10-0 in District 14-5A, won the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament for the sixth consecutive year, and beat Tomball and Cy-Falls in the playoffs.

"Taking None from Nobody" in 1999, the Georgetown Lady Eagles with two returning starters (Dionne Brown and Anna Hartzell), senior Deah Breithaupt, and sophomores Jennifer Doherty and Paige Prince, played one of the toughest preseason schedules in the history of the program. After winning the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament, Georgetown traveled to Missouri for a tournament. The team won district and defeated Cy-Fair in area before falling to Klein in the regional quarterfinals. The team ended the season at 20-14.

In 2000, Georgetown was "In It to Win It," and winning they did as they amassed a 26-7 record. The team won the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament and the prestigious 32-team Las Vegas Holiday Classic. Georgetown won another district championship before falling to Spring Westfield, 50-53, in area.

With just two returning starters (Doherty and Prince), the 2001 Lady Eagles were intent on "Burying the Competition." The team was loaded with youth. Returning letter winners, sophomores Erica Kovach and Cayce Turner, added experience to the program. New varsity sophomore players Tori Alloway, Megan Gooch, Calli Ebeling, and Stephanie Sullivan, and junior Amanda Hall, brought athleticism and a winning junior varsity basketball tradition. The youthful Lady Eagles came in second in the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament, losing in overtime by two points to Corpus Christi Carroll. They played in the San Antonio Northside Invitational, losing in overtime in the championship to San Antonio Taft. The Lady Eagles went to Florida and participated in the Naples Holiday Shoot-Out. They beat the host team, Barron Collier, and lost to two-time Pennsylvania state champion and Naples Shoot-Out champion Cheltenham in overtime. The Lady Eagles went on to be District 13-

LEADERS OF THE PACK / TAKING NONE FROM NOBODY IN IT TO WIN IT

5A Co-Champions. They lost to The Woodlands by one point in area play and ended the season 26-7.

Without a senior on the team, in 2002 Georgetown returned three starters (Alloway, Kovach, and Turner) and seven letterwinners (Ebeling, Rickita Fisher, Gooch, Christy Hubbard, DeAnna Knox, Hanna Pool, and Stephanie Sullivan) on a team that had “Money in the Bank.” The young team went 28-5, defeating St. Michael’s Academy in the finals to the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament, winning consolation at the Kroger Holiday Classic, in Pickerington, OH, and winning District 13-5A with a perfect 10-0 record. They defeated Klein Forrest, 63-60, and lost to Spring Westfield, 36-43, in the regional quarterfinals.

“The Difference in Playing and Playing Well...

70-30” was the creed of the 2003 Lady Eagles. The team returned all five starters (Alloway, Ebeling, Gooch, Hubbard, and Kovach) and four letter winners (Fisher, Knox, Pool, and Turner) along with sophomores Emily Richardson, Leah Starr and freshman Jennifer Thomas. The team lost Turner to a knee injury before the season started and Gooch two games into the season. She did not return until January 3, 2003, some 20 games later. Georgetown defeated rival Austin Westlake, 51-31, before losing in overtime to USA Today #3 nationally-ranked Fort Smith Northside, AR, 64-65, in the finals of the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament. Next, they played five games in less than 44 hours in the prestigious Air Force Rotary Lone Star Invitational in San Antonio, going 2-3, losing to nationally-ranked Germantown Academy, PA, 38-48, and Riverdale Baptist, MD, 36-48, before falling at the buzzer to Houston Madison, 51-52. The Lady Eagles went 3-1 at The Nike Tournament of Champions in Phoenix, AZ, losing to nationally-ranked Oakridge, TN, 43-57, and defeating nationally-ranked Oakland Catholic, PA, 50-48, and nationally-ranked Collins Hill, GA, 58-47, and Cibola in Yuma, AZ, 55-49. Georgetown went 14-0 in District 14-5A before defeating Spring Westfield, 50-39, in Area and Cy-Fair, 44-35, in the regional quarterfinals. At the Ferrell Center in Waco (which was 70 miles from Georgetown), Georgetown defeated Plano, 63-37, in the regional tournament semifinals and Rockwall, 45-42, in the finals. In the state tournament semifinals at the Erwin Center in Austin (which was 30 miles from Georgetown), Georgetown defeated Fort Bend Hightower, 50-34, before bowing out to Duncanville, 27-47, in the finals in front of over 10,000 fans. The Lady Eagles ended their season on the last day for any basketball team to play, March 1, with a record of 33-6.

“Tradition Never Graduates” was the motto for the 2004 Lady Eagles. The team was forced to “reload” since they returned no starters and only four letter winners (Pool, Richardson, Starr, and Thomas). The team played a demanding schedule, beginning the year with Duncanville, the team that had bested Georgetown in the state finals the previous year. Georgetown lost to Duncanville, 38-56, and then went on to defeat San Antonio Taft, 46-42, in the finals of the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament. On a roll, Georgetown won all four games at the Lady Bulldog Holiday Classic in Las Vegas, NV, defeating then #9 nationally-ranked hosts Centennial, 64-52. The Lady Eagles ended District 14-5A in a three-way tie for second with Stony Point and Westwood. They defeated Stony Point, 60-42, in the district playoff before defeating Copperas Cove, 37-34, in bi-district and falling to Cy-Fair, 68-36, in the area round of the state playoffs. Georgetown ended the season 24-10.

In 2005, Georgetown was true to their motto,

BURYING THE COMPETITION / MONEY IN THE BANK

THE DIFFERENCE IN PLAYING AND PLAYING WELL 70-30

“Operating with Heart.” The team lined up and played the best competition in the nation, returning three starters (Kathryn Briggs, Jessica Ochoa, and Starr) and four letter winners (Briggs, Katie Dachowski, Ochoa, Starr, and Thomas). Others joining the team were Jessica Abernathy, Lauren Davis, Kristen Ibarra, Kelsey Kniffin, Shae Seagraves, and Devin Sewell. The Lady Eagles defeated Lubbock Estacado, 60-42, for third place in the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament and defeated nationally ranked Narbonne, CA, 49-36, and Plainview, 44-41, before falling to state-ranked Brock and Mansfield Summit in the San Antonio Lone Star Rotary Air Force Invitational. Next, the team traveled to New York where they defeated Manhasset, NY, and Mary Louis Academy, NY, before losing to the eventual national champions, Christ the King. On a roll, the Lady Eagles returned home to rack up a 13-1 record and the District 15-5A championship. During district play, the team won five games by three points or less. The team defeated Temple in the area game, 58-43, before being defeated by Pflugerville, 32-43, in the regional quarterfinals.

In 2006, Georgetown added to the girls’ basketball legacy by “Building a BLUEprint for Success.” That success consisted of playing the toughest preseason and district schedule in the history of the program. Returning three starters (Briggs, Sewell, and Thomas) and four additional letter winners (Abernathy, Davis, Kniffin, and Seagraves), Georgetown lost in overtime to Pflugerville Connally in the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament, 38-40, went 3-1 in Delaware’s Diamond State Classic, losing to Columbia Central, TN, 48-57, and then defeating St. John’s Vianney, NJ, 51-41, Boone, FL, 49-35, and Oxford, PA, 46-39. The team was District 15-5A tri-champions, which included two routes of Cedar Park, 52-32, and 55-39, a come-from-behind win on a last second putback by Devin Sewell to defeat Pflugerville, 50-49, and a 14-point last quarter comeback against McNeil, 53-51, behind Kathryn Briggs’ 15-point fourth quarter contribution. Georgetown defeated Westlake, 43-23, in bi-district, defeated the Woodlands, 54-40, in area, defeated Austin Bowie, 46-36, in regional quarterfinals, and lost to eventual state runnerup Rockwall, 34-43, in the regional semifinals.

2007 saw the Lady Eagles “Reeling in the Competition.” The team sharpened their teeth on the hardest competition in the state and nation. Returning three starters (Briggs, Nutter, and Seagraves) and four additional letterwinners (Kniffin, Erica McDaniel, Lorin Pereira, and Aubrey Sewell), the first four games of the season were a roller coaster. They lost to state-ranked Waco Midway and Marble Falls, and then to Dripping Springs before defeating then #1 state-ranked Bryan. They went 4-1, defeating San Antonio Warren in the silver-division of the Georgetown Thanksgiving Tournament, and 2-2 in the Deep South Classic in Atlanta, GA. The team was District 14-5 runnerup, which included two pivotal wins over Cedar Park, 49-45, and 53-49, and a come from behind win on a last second three pointer by Pereira to defeat McNeil, 44-43. Georgetown lost to Harker Heights, 43-49, in bi district.

In 2008, Georgetown returned three starters (Kniffin, Nutter, and Sewell) as well as three letterwinners (Crystal Atwood, McDaniel, and Pereira). Others joining the varsity were junior varsity championship members Jherica Binder, Kayla Burnett, Brittany Frasier, Katie Rudolph, and Tory Schlaht and freshmen players Brianna Bogard, Christina Kime, and Kathryn Tolbert. Each player helped to “Play Basketball the Georgetown Way—It’s Showtime.” The team won three out-of-four overtime games as well as winning the Sweet Sixteen Tournament in Monterey, CA, and runnerup at the Winnsboro Classic. Surprising everyone but themselves, they split with Pflugerville and defeated the rest of the district teams to win a District 14-5A co-championship. Next the Lady Eagles defeated Killeen Shoemaker, 39-33, in bi district, and derailed top ten Conroe, 42-41, in area. Atwood hit a three pointer to send the Spring Westfield game into overtime before losing in the quarterfinals, 52-57. Georgetown ended a marvelous season at 28-6.

In 2009, Georgetown returned one starter (Atwood) as well as four letterwinners (Bogard, Burnett, Tolbert, and Crystal Wills). Others joining the varsity were undefeated junior varsity championship members Iesha Collins, Alexa Harpe, Kathryn Lawhon, Kjiirsten Olson, Abbey Pennington, Natalie Polivka, and Jirah Rodriguez along with sophomore Amanda Bizzell from a district championship freshman team and freshmen Emily Johnson and Taylor Heine. Team members chose the 300 theme: “Give them nothing. Take from them everything... This is Georgetown,” and they played with a warrior-like mentality. Georgetown won the silver bracket of the Jack Frost Tournament and third in the Winnsboro HoopFest. Next the team traveled to Owensboro, KY, where they shocked the home team Owensboro Catholic, 73-46, and finally lost in the finals to Henderson Co., KY, 49-55. After graduating nine seniors and five players who are now playing in college, Georgetown opened District 16-5A on December 9, 2008, against a veteran Cedar Park team and won, 47-42. Georgetown went on to post a 13-1 record and be District 16-5A co-champions with Cedar Park. Next the Lady Eagles defeated Cy-Woods, 51-43, in bi district before losing to Spring Westfield, 50-56, in area. Georgetown posted a 26-7 season mark.

In 2010, the Lady Eagles decided on the theme “With One Lap to Go” and sped off to a 31-4 season. Georgetown returned four starters (Atwood, Bogard, Pennington, and Wills) as well as five senior letterwinners (Harpe, Lawhon, Polivka, Rodriguez, and Olson) and one junior letterwinner (Bizzell), and one sophomore letterwinner (Johnson) as well as veteran senior managers and student trainer (Shelby Bouffard, Kensley Toungate, and Ryan Roe). Georgetown won second in both the gold bracket of the Georgetown Jack Frost Tournament, losing to Houston Westbury Christian, 52-60, and in the Winnsboro HoopFest, losing to the host school, 48-58 as well as third in the Nike Tournament of Champions in Phoenix, AZ, by defeating Chandler, AZ, 57-55 on an assist from Atwood to Pennington on the buzzer. That win revved up their engines and began an acceleration that led them deep into the state playoffs. The team went 14-0 in District 16-5A play while collectively all four teams posted an unprecedented 45-0 record and district championships at every level. Next in the state playoffs, Georgetown defeated Cy-Woods at Brenham in overtime, 57-53, Lufkin at A&M Consolidated, 49-42, and Cy-Falls at Hearne, 47-43, before losing to Bryan, 45-50, in the regional tournament on the Baylor University campus.

REELING IN THE COMPETITION / IT'S SHOWTIME

GIVE THEM NOTHING. TAKE FROM THEM EVERYTHING

There were high expectations for the 2011 Lady Eagles as they had “All the Right Ingredients” due to a returning senior group that included all-state Brianna Bogard along with four other seniors (Amanda Bizzell, Elizabeth Kniffen, Alex Larsen, and Cassie Vick). Pre-season All-American Krystal Forthan joined this senior group in her first year as a varsity player. Added to it was an underclass group that included returning starter junior Emily Johnson as well as two other juniors (Meghan White and Katie Youngblood). Two sophomores (Lorrie Santoy and Kaitlin Walla) rounded out the core group of varsity players. During tournaments and post season play, junior Astrid Roman along with three sophomores (Lauren Ferrell, Bree Smith, and Misty Walden) joined the team. Varsity managers included Hanna Abbe, Kayde Green, Bailey Lee, Hillary Mazingo, and Larrice Valadez and student trainer Alex Adams. The team compiled an overall record of 33-4 with a perfect 12-0 District 16-5A mark. Along the way, the team finished second in the Jack Frost Tournament, losing a 71-56 decision, once again to Houston Westbury Christian and finally won the Winnsboro HoopFest. The Lady Eagles finished a very respectable fourth place in the largest invitational tournament in the country the highly competitive West Coast Jamboree, losing to nationally rated teams Long Beach Poly, CA, 53-65, and Berkeley, CA, 61-67. At the end of the season, the Lady Eagles truly distinguished themselves as one of Georgetown’s best teams ever by winning a regional championship and making it all the way to the state finals before losing to Irving MacArthur, 58-71. In route to Austin, the Lady Eagles defeated Pflugerville for the third time, 68-56, in the regional finals, then defeated Houston Alief-Elsik, 56-51, in the state semifinals.

The 2012 Lady Eagles believed that “Lightning Can Strike Twice” as they reeled off 17 straight victories and made everyone in Georgetown as well as the state believe, too. Two returning starters (Emily Johnson and Kaitlin Walla) from the 2011 5A defending state finalist team, were joined by five returning letterwinners (Lorrie Santoy, Bree Smith, Misty Walden, Meghan White, and Katie Youngblood) as well as six newcomers (Caitlyn Buttram, Khadijah Conway, Nicole Elliott, Haley Frias, Hayley Hunter, and Astrid Roman). The returning managers (Hanna Abbe and Bailey Lee) were joined by four varsity rookies (Hope Delatorre, Andrea Kautzsch, Mary Lucas, and Kamille Lyons) and student trainer Macey Watson. Georgetown won the Jack Frost Tournament by defeating state-ranked Liberty Hill, 61-41, and UConn signee Moriah Jefferson and the THESA Riders, 72-62. Also, exacting some revenge, the Lady Eagles treated the locals to a blowout win over Houston Westbury Christian, 71-33. They were defeated by two nationally-ranked teams in the Boo Williams Holiday Classic before besting Forest Park, VA, 64-53.

Playing before two standing-room only crowds and on KBVO local television, they finished behind Pflugerville in District 16-5A before they defeated Austin Westlake in bidistrict, 59-45, and were defeated by the eventual state finalist Spring DeKaney, 28-51, in the area-round of the state playoffs. Georgetown’s final record was 27-5.

Paying tribute to the Olympic theme, the 2013 Lady Eagles discussed “Going for the Gold,” which meant to the team that they could win a gold medal if they worked hard, were mentally tough, knew and embraced their roles, were effective communicators, and were fundamentally sound. As the season unwound, they held each other accountable and embodied these characteristics every day in practice. Georgetown returned two starters (Santoy and Walla) as well as two senior letterwinners (Hunter and Smith) and two junior letterwinners (Buttram and Frias) as well as two veteran senior managers (Lyons and Lucas), two junior managers (Delatorre and Amanda Goode), one sophomore manager (Kauitzsch). New to the varsity were one senior (Khadijah Conway), two juniors (Rikki Blue and Nicole Elliott), and four sophomores (Maddie Anderson, Amanda Johnson, Taylor LaCour, and Christine Mersiosky) as well as one senior manager (Grant Anderson) and one freshman manager (Seth Sossner). The team was joined by one junior student trainer (Emily Baldwin-Pena). The Lady Eagles were 34-4 on the season. They learned from each loss and became a formidable team. The team was second in the Jack Frost Tournament, losing in the finals to Lubbock Coronado, 55-57 and winning the Winnsboro HoopFest by defeating the Class A state champions Martin's Mill, 48-40. In the Bertha Teague Mid-American Classic in Ada, OK, Georgetown played before a packed arena of 3,500 every night as they beat state-ranked and local favorite, Byng, OK, 65-29, and then Lomega, OK, 54-28, before eventually losing to the 5A Oklahoma state champions from Sulphur, OK, 35-40. That would be the last loss of the season for the eventual 4A Texas state champions from Georgetown High School. Hayley Hunter capped a furious comeback against Barbers Hill, 44-42, with a putback on the buzzer to advance to the regional tournament in Aldine. In the state tournament Georgetown held San Antonio Brennan scoreless in the third quarter after the score was knotted at 13 all at halftime to advance, 43-30. Georgetown came from behind late in the championship game to best Dallas Lincoln, 65-60. This was the first state championship for the Georgetown Lady Eagles since 1979.

In 2014, with two returning starters (Buttram and Frias), four returning letterwinners (Maddie Anderson, Elliott, Johnson, and LaCour), two veteran managers (Delatorre and Kauitzsch), and 11 new letterwinners (Charisma Alexander, Monica Anderson, Kendrick Clark, MacKayla Embry, Alexis Gonzalez, Taylor Green, Avery Kelly, Samantha Lee, Aubrey Simon, Alex Vance, and Hayley White), and three rookie managers (Barringer, Hamman, and Neitsch), the "No Pressure No Diamond" Lady Eagles made back-to-back State Tournament appearances and went 31-7. The team held each other accountable with the "good" kinds of pressures while helping to alleviate the "bad" pressures. Georgetown won the Brownsboro Tournament, defeating John Tyler, 50-34, and the Jack Frost Tournament, avenging a previous loss to Austin Bowie, 45-25. In the Centennial Holiday Classic in Las Vegas, NV, Georgetown went 3-2, defeating Desert Pines, NV, University, NV, and #3 Highlands, AZ, and losing to #2 Bonita, CA, and #3 Liberty, NV. Returning from the out-of-state tournament, the Lady Eagles went on a winning streak of 15 that landed them in the State Tournament. For the second year, the team was undefeated in District 17-4A, going 14-0. Georgetown played 27 players in a bi district win over Willis, 76-39, and defeated state-ranked Brenham and 6 ft. 7 in. McCowan, 55-37. In two years, the Eagles had a perfect record at the Region III-4A Tournament at the Campbell Center in Aldine, Texas, defeating Rosenberg Terry, 53-28, and state-ranked Montgomery, 53-42, in the finals this year. The Lady Eagles ended their season playing in the Final Four, losing to the eventual 4A State Champion Canyon, 22-41.

In 2015, after losing three starters (Alexander, Buttram, and Frias) and two-time state tournament starters (Buttram and Frias), the Lady Eagles returned two starters (Clark and LaCour), seven returning letterwinners (Maddie Anderson, Clark, Green, Johnson, Kelly, Saenz, and White), one veteran managers (Kauitzsch), and six new letterwinners (Deonna Day, Brooke Elliott,

GOING FOR THE GOLD / NO PRESSURE NO DIAMOND STRONGER THAN EVER

Taylor Elliot, Sandi Harris, and Stephanie Sovereign), and two rookie managers (Lindsey Gerlinger and Jacque Hernandez). The team lost Abby Saenz as a player to her second torn ACL so she helped the team out as a manager. Jaime Aguilar, Micah Downs, Bobby Frederickson, Luke Landry, and Jack Saenz were the always important scout team players. The “Stronger Than Ever” Lady Eagles went 31-6 before losing to district rival Vista Ridge in regional finals. The team played in arguably the toughest district in the state where at one time Georgetown was ranked #1 in the state while Vista Ridge and Cedar Park were #2 and #5, respectively. Georgetown won the Toast of the Coast Tournament, defeating Lumberton in overtime, 51-47, and second in the Jack Frost Tournament, losing to eventual 3A State Champion Argyle, 38-48. In the Queen of Palms Classic, in Ft. Myers, FL, Georgetown went 2-1, defeating Dwyer, FL, and Gainesville, FL, before losing to hometown defending and eventual state champion Dunbar, FL. Returning from the out-of-state tournament, the Lady Eagles finished second in District 25-5A, going 11-3, losing twice to Vista Ridge, 54-57, and 58-61, respectively, before splitting with Cedar Park. Playing in Region IV for the first time ever, Georgetown defeated Cedar Creek inbi district, 61-21, state-ranked SA Highlands, in area, 52-34, and in a showdown with Cedar Park again in regional quarterfinals, 61-58. The Eagles qualified to play in the Region IV-5A Tournament at the Blossom Athletic Complex in San Antonio, Texas, defeating CC Tuloso-Midway, 61-32, before losing to top state-ranked Vista Ridge, 40-53, in the finals this year. The Lady Eagles seniors ended with their third 30+ win season and a couple of games short of their ultimate goal.

After graduation, Georgetown’s program numbers were smaller than in recent years thus the theme “Army of One.” The team graduated seven seniors (Anderson, Johnson, Kautzsch, LaCour, Saenz, Sovereign, White) and returned three starters (Clark, Brooke Elliott, Green). It seemed a little dejavu as the team went 24-11 and advanced to the regional finals before bowing out again to Vista Ridge. Georgetown was defeated by Waco Midway, 36-53, on the opening night of the season and then lost to Lufkin in the Conroe Tigerette Classic in the first round before reeling off three victories, defeating Nimiz, Humble Summer Creek, and Bryan. The next victim was Pflugerville, winning 56-42, before dropping tough games to state-ranked Killeen Ellison, Killeen, and Pflugerville Hendrickson. The team advanced to the gold bracket semifinals before losing to John Tyler, 32-46 and went 1-2 in the Bertha Teague Mid-American Classic, beating the host Ada, OK, 45-38. In District 25-5A, Georgetown went 12-2, losing twice to Vista Ridge before winning five playoff games to land in the Region IV-5A Tournament finals facing Vista Ridge again. Vista Ridge won 40-50, denying the locals a fourth trip to state in the past six years.

LADY EAGLE SEASON

If placed in the realm of geography, the first half of the Lady Eagles' season might best be described as a trip on the back roads through the Hill Country from Georgetown to either Dripping Springs or Marble Falls. There were ups, downs, low-water crossings and a few straightaways.

When the Lady Eagles departed the court for the final time in 2015, they stood 11-8 on the season and faced numerous questions about how successful they would be and what they needed to do—on and off the court—to achieve that success.

The old Lady Eagles went out with the old year and the new Lady Eagles came into the New Year, building as they went, finishing the season with 13 victories in 16 games and reaching the Region IV-5A finals in San Antonio for the second consecutive year. All three of the late-season losses were to district rival Vista Ridge.

The once problem-plagued Lady Eagles were just one victory short of reaching the UIL State Tournament for the fifth time since 2003. They extended program streaks under Coach Rhonda Farney with the 27th consecutive 20-win season and 26 straight appearances in the state playoffs.

Georgetown finished second in District 25-5A with a 12-2 record and finished its two seasons in what had to be considered one of the toughest alignments in the state with 23 wins in 28 games. The Lady Eagles will move to a new district—19-5A—and region—Region III-5A—next season.

After entering the playoffs as the second seed from 25-5A, the Lady Eagles posted four consecutive playoff victories—Bastrop Cedar Creek, 68-33, in bi-district; Seguin, 65-43, in the area round; Floresville, 50-38, in the regional quarterfinals; and Victoria East, 54-45, in the regional semifinals.

There was no patty-cake in the schedule. Of the 11 losses, 10 were to teams that reached the state playoffs, including five divots to teams that advanced to the Texas and Oklahoma state tournaments—Vista Ridge, Alva, OK, and Ardmore Plainview, OK.

There were individual honors—senior Kendrick Clark repeated as the 25-5A Defensive Player of the Year, junior post Dee Day and junior Brooke Elliott made first-team all-district, junior guards Taylor Elliott and Taylor Green and senior guard/forward Avery Kelly were voted to the second team and seniors Dori Brown and Sandi Harris, sophomore Olivia Anderson, and freshman Emily Jones were named to the honorable mention list.

“I’m very proud of our team and coaches,” Farney said. “It’s a rarity for a team to be up and down early as we were and then to right the ship and actually get exponentially better towards the end.”

“In a period of three weeks, we went from having our team and rotations set to having a player move, another player makes the right decision to forego playing because of numerous concussions and another player quit. Did I say all these players were 4s?”

“The best thing that could have happened for us long term though was moving up freshman E.J. Jones. She improved and became a force inside. Also, Olivia Anderson moved up and provided us with great play off the bench and much needed depth.”

However, there was one constant with previous Georgetown teams. “The team was a defensive force to be reckoned with all season,” Farney said. “They routinely held opponents well below their scoring average and gave up 40.6 points a game, only a 10th off the Lady Eagle record.”

The Lady Eagles held 18 opponents to 40 points or less. “We got outstanding play from our seniors Dori, Kendrick, Sandi and Avery and they finished with an unprecedented legacy,” Farney said. “The four juniors Dee, Brooke, Taylor E. and Taylor G. provided great skill.”

“Together the team managed to play one of the toughest preseason and district schedules ever and rise above many challenges to make it back to the Elite Eight.”

PLAYS OUT IN TWO HALVES

It was a team with balanced scoring. They outscored their opponents by 245 points with only two double-digit scorers for the season. The 6-foot-1 Day averaged 10.7 points a game and the 6-foot Clark added 10.1 points a game.

Three seniors will play at the next level—Clark has signed with NAIA women’s basketball power Wayland Baptist; Kelly, a multi-sport standout, will take to the softball diamond for Mary-Hardin Baylor; Harris has visited and is deciding about State University of New York New Paltz SUNY.

In a conversation about the program and its philosophy and outlook, Farney said, “Our expectations are always high, getting to state, and I think sometimes it produces unrealistic pressures. There is nothing wrong with going five rounds into the playoffs. That is a successful season.”

The team’s four seniors had the following response when asked about the season’s turnaround and the process of developing winning team chemistry.

Kelly: “This season definitely started out as a roller coaster, and to be honest, I wasn’t quite sure where we would end up or how we would mesh. Everyone has very bold personalities. Without a doubt, the one thing we had in common was our drive to be successful. If there is one word to describe our team it would absolutely be growth. I have never been part of a team that has shown so much growth, and we put aside our differences for the success of our team. We learned to become ONE . . .”

Harris: “The season started off very rocky, and it was difficult to fix all of our problems. It seemed like there was one road block after the next and nothing went our way, but we kept persevering. I saw us steadily get back to the team I knew we were all along, and we proved to be very successful.”

Brown: “Our team has come a long way this season; we all started out as individual players but grew into a family. Being a Lady Eagle is not just about playing basketball; it’s about being strong and being there for your family on and off the court no matter your differences.”

Clark: “Senior year hasn’t been the easiest of years and our team struggled at times, but we were able to overcome so much together.”

Senior manager Lindsey Gerlinger, witnessing the team’s development, from inside the dressing room and outside the lines of the court, may have summed the team feeling up best: “This season was full of ups and downs, but there is nothing I would trade for the friendships I’ve made and the ones I’ve strengthened throughout the season.”

As for the final loss to Vista Ridge—the team’s sixth in two seasons—Harris put it in the true perspective of a Lady Eagle, “Yesterday’s game against Vista was a tough loss. I know we all wanted to play in the state tournament, but more than anything, we wanted to be a team for one more week.”

And all are now members of a very special alumni group that knows, “Eagle Fight Never Dies.”

IT IS ACTION AND EXAMPLE”

NAPLES, FL • ATLANTA, GA • QUEENS, NY • SEASIDE, CA

On December 26, 2003, Georgetown flew to Las Vegas, Nevada, where they went 4-0, defeating Centennial, the #9 team in the nation. Georgetown is 9-0 in Vegas in two trips.

On December 28, 2004, Georgetown was defeated by Christ the King in Queens, New York, the #1 team in the nation, as the Lady Eagles had the opportunity to play with the 30-second clock. They rode the subway, visited Ground Zero, toured Statton Island, and viewed the Statue of Liberty, marveled at the Rockettes at Radio City Music Hall, ate at Carnegie Deli, and were awed by the sight of the New York skyline and the Empire State Building.

Diamond State Classic in Delaware was the Christmas 2005 destination where Georgetown went 3-1. In Philly, they went to the Rocky steps, Geno's for cheese steaks, and Independence Hall. In DC, they saw all the monuments, the Holocaust Museum, the White House, the Capitol, Arlington National Cemetery, and Georgetown University.

During Christmas 2006, Georgetown traveled by charter bus to Atlanta, Georgia, where they competed in the Deep South Classic. The team went 2-2 against some of the toughest competition in the nation while taking time to eat at the famous Varsity, visit Stone Mountain, and enjoy the Georgia Aquarium.

Christmas 2007 was spent in Seaside, California, at the Sweet Sixteen Tournament, where Georgetown went 4-0. They defeated the hometown Seaside Lady Spartans, 64-27, in the finals. In San Francisco, the team toured Alcatraz, the Golden Gate Bridge, Chinatown, Lombardi Street, and Fisherman's Wharf.

The Christmas tournament of choice was held in Owensboro, Kentucky, where Georgetown went 3-1, losing in the finals to Henderson County, Kentucky. In Nashville, Tennessee, the team visited the Country Music Hall of Fame, President Andrew Jackson's home, The Hermitage, and ICE at the Grand Ol' Opry Resort.

OAKLAND, CA • VIRGINIA BEACH, VA • GILLETTE, WY • ADA, OK

Christmas in 2009 was spent in Phoenix, Arizona, at the Nike Tournament of Champs, where Georgetown defeated Chandler, Arizona, on the buzzer. The team traveled the Apache Trail, experiencing Camelback Mountain and an old ghost town in addition to attending an Arizona State women's basketball game.

Georgetown flew to Oakland, California, after Christmas in 2010, where the team placed fourth out of 96 teams in the West Coast Jamboree, losing to nationally ranked Berkeley and Long Beach Poly. While in San Francisco, the team visited Muir Woods, Golden Gate Bridge, Chinatown, and Fisherman's Wharf.

Georgetown headed east to Virginia Beach, Virginia, and the Boo Williams Holiday Classic in December 2011, where the team went 2-1, snapping a 17-game winning streak. The team explored a lighthouse, rode the oldest wooden carousel in the country, visited Jamestown, ate rare prime rib at Colonial Williamsburg, toured ChristmasTown at Busch Gardens, and experienced GeoCashing, where they found the oldest church in America as well as other historic treasures.

WILMINGTON, DE • PHOENIX, AZ • SAN FRANCISCO, CA

The Georgetown Lady Eagles traversed snow and ice to drive to Ada, Oklahoma, for the Bertha Teague Mid-American Classic in December 2012, producing a record of 2-1 before losing to Sulphur, Oklahoma, in the finals. Both Georgetown and Sulphur would go on to win their respective state titles. The team was shown great hospitality and played before 3,500 rabid basketball fans every night. In addition, Georgetown had time to Geo-Cash and visit Byng, the home of Mrs. Teague. In Oklahoma City, they went to the Western Heritage Cowboy Museum and the Murray Federal Museum and Memorial as well as staying in Bricktown.

The Lady Eagles left on December 26, 2014, and flew to the Centennial Holiday Classic in Las Vegas, Nevada, where they went 3-2, losing to the #2 team in California, Bonita HS and #3 team in Nevada, Liberty HS. Georgetown defeated the #4 team in Arizona, Highlands HS. The team played before many fans from Sun City Georgetown and Southwestern Lady Pirates Basketball team. For more fun, the team road the roller-coasters at New York New York and the Stratosphere, watched the water show at the Bellagio, the volcano eruption at the Mirage, and the laser show at the Freemont as well as seeing the Blue Man Group show and touring Hoover Dam and Lake Mead.

OWNESBORO, KY • LAS VEGAS, NV • FORT MYERS, FL

The Eagles boarded a charter bus and traveled to Mobile, Alabama, where they stopped for a shoot-around on the eve of December 27, 2014. The next morning the team had a captain-led devotional before travelling to Tampa, Florida, where the team went to Busch Gardens. Next were the beautiful beaches at Ft. Myers, Florida, and the Queen of Palms Classic where the team defeated Dwyer, Florida, 67-58, before losing to the two-time state champion and host team Dunbar, Florida, 48-74. Georgetown won third via a win over Gainesville, Florida, 62-51. In addition, the girls battled off the flu and did some world-class shopping.

OKLAHOMA CITY, OK

Georgetown chartered a bus and headed for Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, on December 27, 2015. They arrived in time to eat at Fuzzy's Taco and attend the OKC Thunder game. Along the way, they encountered snow and ice that forced them to cancel their trip to the Murray Federal Memorial and Museum. Instead they left early on December 28 for Ada, Oklahoma, and the Bertha Teague Mid-American Classic. There, they weathered cold temperatures and played basketball before a packed house at East Central University. The Lady Eagles went 1-2, losing to Alva, Oklahoma, 30-42; defeating host Ada, Oklahoma, 45-38; and losing to Plainview, Oklahoma, 51-60. Georgetown returned to district play "a more experienced team," losing only to Vista Ridge.
